(Cyprus) Ltd

Hellenic Tzialis Cyprus Ltd was founded in 2001 by the Hellenic Mining Company and the Greek based Tzialis group of companies.

The company is active in the environmental technology sector, e.g. Waste management and industrial and office cleaning, and aims at offering complete and professional solutions to industry, the private sector and Cyprus's local authorities.

Combining the long tradition and know-how of the Hellenic Mining Company, which constitutes one of the largest industrial groups in Cyprus and the specialized experience of the Tzialis group, one of the largest waste management companies in Greece, our company aims at developing a large spectrum of services

- The design and management of waste collection and transport systems for municipal authorities and other public authorities and the commercial and industrial sector.
- The design, development and management of waste processing and sorting plants,
- The design and management of recycling and thermal processing plants
- Hazardous waste management
- Provision of consultancy services
- Industrial cleaning, Interior and exterior cleaning of buildings.
- The cleaning and maintenance of water and waste systems, the cleaning of beaches and the adjoining sea
- Hospital waste management

The company has over the last few years invested significant funds in the purchase of machinery and specialized equipment used in its line of work.

Our company has also developed an advanced fleet of specialized vehicles; engaged in the collection and transport of waste in Nicosia, Larnaca and Paphos, serving some one hundred clients, including private companies and municipal authorities.

Since 2003 Hellenic Tzialis Cyprus Ltd introduced a new service in Cyprus which comprises the rental of mobile waste compactors installed at our client's premises. With the use of special vehicles our company undertakes the final disposal of the waste material in question.

Hellenic Tzialis Cyprus Ltd is constantly evolving and adapting to new givens through its continuous upgrading with its fundamental goal being the full development and improvement of its services, so that it may be in a position to offer with guaranteed success complete solutions to its clients.

With the development and adoption of new environmental legislation in Cyprus, the company is presented with the opportunity of broadening its horizons, and its presence in new sectors and also offering services to a large number of new clients.

Since 2006, our company has been awarded with the Cleaning and Waste Management contract for Cyprus' two international airports, of Larnaca and Paphos.

Hellenic Tzialis Cyprus Ltd already employs more than 120 people including the General Manager, the Head of the waste and environmental department, Site Managers, supervisors, drivers, cleaners and others.

The company applies strict regulations concerning health and safety at work while it also adheres strictly to the ISO 9001 standard.

Our topmost goal is the further development of our activities and the offering of our services with professionalism, immediacy, personal service and adaptability of all new givens, technological and societal.
